This is an example of the stack I used. When it comes to creating a stack there are a lot of things you should remember, but it's MOST important that you make your offer worth significantly more than the price they paid to get it.

Actually, I have a rule… the VERY FIRST bonus should always be a product you could sell, by itself, for more money. And I will ABSOLUTELY sell the Fill in the blank sales page for $97 in the future because that thing is money! When someone sees that I want them thinking… "Am I seriously getting all of this".

What's also great about this is that I have a LOT of stuff they are getting as you can see, but it sall revolves around helping them create or sell a digital product. It follows me "Perfect Funnel" pretty perfectly. My first product is the "Map" to the gold. Then my first upsell is speed and automation. Then I offer access to me and a more "done for you" environment.

I want to give you MY stack so you can teach your AI what a good stack looks like. Once you've had AI create your main product, you can have it create a "stack" just like this. Again, if you're using Poppy you can upload this document and your actual offer document and ask it to help you come up with an "irresistible offer stack".

My main product is the prompt, then I have additional prompts that are logically going to come up as questions in the customers mind. Funny enough, I actually thought of that second product because of a competitors ad. I saw someone commented on one of my competitors ad "Do we also get upsells with this" and it got me thinking, "Hm… people must want that and if they aren't sure they won't buy… so it makes for a perfect part of my stack".

Then I give them my $5k group program prompt, my funnel outline to create a 7 figure funnel, A product packaging tutorial, and over the shoulder training… that's just the core product.

The Bonuses are no brainers, something EVERYONE Will want… but I'm making them as fast action bonuses to get people to commit quickly.

That's all for now… go crush!
